We present our community ...

The fast-growing residential district of West View borough is located just seven miles north of Pittsburgh, on Route 19, the Perry Highway Its history is a short but colorful one. Its first inhabitants were wandering Indians that settled on the present site of the High School. From this inauspicious start, the community has grown to its present-day population of eight thousand. West View residents are proud that their homes are located in this beautiful suburb of Pittsburgh. Feeling that a pictorial pattern of the borough would be welcomed by many, we of the Westvian devote this section of our book to the community of West View.

THE HIGH SCHOOL

Its Place in the Community
To the high school goes the job of educating the younger generation to be good citizens. Here the young mind is molded into the pattern of an intelligent, responsive American. Now, especially, an added responsibility is that of injecting into the minds of students the ideals necessary to form a better civilization. Not only is the technical scope of a student's mind broadened, but participation in school activities and social life develops a versatility that is a "must" for every good American.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

SENIORS!! Ah yes, what a wonderful name! They tell me that it is an honor to be a senior and that seniors do more things and have more fun than any other class in the school. I wonder if that's true. Let's look in on some of the class activities and see just how big a part the seniors play around West View High School.
, One of the first things I can remember being done this year was the senior play, "Smilin' Thru. My, but that was the time for hustle and bustle. The borough was canvassed for sale of tickets. We had play practice three and four times a week, dress rehearsals, and finally the production with makeup and all. How nicely everything went on the stage. Timing was perfect and the cast looked its best. Do you want me to let you in on a little secret? You should have been behind stage! The nervous strain was terrific. Confusion-no end! Pull the curtain! Dim the lights! Watch your skirt! Don't laugh! On with the records!. Yes, the play was a huge success. In fact, it was the best ever given by seniors.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES

Another thing for which you can thank the seniors is the way in which they have made it so easy for you to spend your money. Delicious, tempting potato chips, and crunchy popcorn and pretzels, along with the pop, ice cream, and candy tempted one so that you couldn't save your last nickel. They know what you folks like?

One nice bright morning we were told that those seniors having names beginning with the letters $A$ to $Z$ were to make a trip to Gimbel's. Some of us didn't get to hear much of what was going on, so we went that evening to see what it was all about. We stood in a line for an what was going on, so we went that evening to see what it was all about. We stood in a line for an a wful long time; so long, in fact, that beads of perspiration were on our foreheads. Finally, one at a time, we came to a small room. We sat on a little chair and looked into the mirrors that were all around us. We no more than got to take a good look at ourselves when it was time for the next person to sit down. Days later we each received a large envelope through the mail. Inside were pictures that they said were of us. I recognized the clothes right away. A circular came with the pictures telling us how inexpensive they were. What would we do without these charge accounts?

Sometimes seniors do funny things-things you can't understand. Now with this business of name cards. They ask you your name and how many times you would like to have it written on paper. One could sit at home and write all night and it wouldn't cost anything. A week or two them everyone was grabbing and giving. One has more name cards of other people than of his own.

One day I was really frightened! We were called into the principal's office. As soon as we put our foot in the door we were pushed up against the wall. Then, very hurriedly, we were measured with a tape measure. I thought for sure we were going to be drafted, but later I was told that they were only getting measurements for caps and gowns.

We ordered our announcements for graduation the other day. Everyone was telling me that when you send one of those to someone it means a gift. Since they were only eight cents a piece, I got a lot because you can't buy gifts for that now-a-days.

Our class had a party at the Colonial in February for the fellows who are going to be soldiers in Uncle Sam's Army. Everyone had a good time, so I guess it was time well spent.

Next on our schedule was the prom, at which we were the juniors' guests, baccalaureate service, dinner dance, and finally graduation

Yes, it's great to be a senior!

"Beat of Lush"

JUNIORS

CLASS ACTIVITIES

Even though we underclassmen can't talk about graduation pictures, name cards, commencement announcements, and a dinner dance, (that's senior talk) we had our share of fun and frolic, We didn't say a word all the while our senior friends made us almost green with envy as they enthusiastically and proudly turned the conversation into one concerned with senior activities. Yes, we took a back seat and listened, knowing that someday the time would come when we would find ourselves in the same position, and want a bevy of undergraduate's ears to listen to our never-ending lines. But just to keep peace in the family, we dedicate this page to the activities of the lower classes.

Fancy celebrations retreated this year in favor of test blackouts, victory book campaigns, and war stamp drives. Uncle Sam beckoned and the citizens of our high school were at his "beck and call". Despite the fact that social events were doubly hard to put across because of gasoline rationing, every endeavor of the Junior Class proved to be a smashing success. The Juniors presented an array of talent that was a credit to their class.

On November 20, the entire student body donned their finest bib and tucker and presented themselves on the gym floor to dance to the smooth rhythm of George Wells and his orchestra. The Junior Class scored a victory as the "Harvest Hop" was enjoyed by all couples present. Everything was complete, even to the corn stalks and the silvery harvest moon.

The class of ' 44 showed their theatrical ability on the P. M. of March 19. Directed by Miss Delp, the thespians went over the top in the field of entertainment with their production of "Ever Since Eve". The energetic Juniors left a mark for the coming play producers to shoot at. The departing seniors need have no fear that their shoes won't be capably filled next year. Miss Laing and Mr. Reed were class sponsors. Jim Gammon, Bill Craig, Virginia Scholze, and Ronald Cole were the elected officers.

The year 1945 looms into the spotlight as the graduating class of that year shines forth. Sophomores are not permitted by school authorities to sponsor events to make a profit; therefore they confine their social activities to those within their class. On February 19, they enjoyed an exclusive dance, the Sweater Swing. Miss Delp and Mr. Wrenshall in their roles as class sponsors kept the class rolling merrily along and have high hopes for the future development of the class of '45. Kent Thorpe, Jack Stewart, Lois Resler, and Jack Miller led the class in the finest fashion. As can be seen by their thoroughness and planning, this group of students is one that will carry on in the best West View tradition.

The activities of the up and coming Freshman Class have been limited to an expertly-managed party. February 12 was the date. One and all responded to the call and turned out full force for their gala get-together. Freshies jumped and jived until quite worn out with the evening's merriment; they reluctantly left the gym to return home and to dream of all the thrills they had that night.

All that remains now are the seventh and eighth grade students. These newcomers to high school life as yet are not active in school affairs, but their time is coming. Their fun has been in home room parties. The rest of the school can only hope to be a fine example for their activity development.

Thus was spent another school year by the classes of West View High School; a year filled with worthwhile activities. At this time in 1944 all the classes will have moved up on the ladder of education. The seniors of 1943 wish them the best of luck and lots of good times!!

EIGHTH AND SEVENTH GRADES

ACTIVITIES

THE 1943 WESTVIAN

Nothing would show you better what the Westvian staff does than a short excursion to one of their weekly Monday gatherings. Let's just follow the well-worn path that leads to 104, and while we're waiting for the meeting to begin, if you're very quiet, I'll point out the "brains" of the staff and tell you what they do at the yearbook meetings.

Do you see that fella over there? He's Jack Moran, our editor-in-chief. Jack worked hard to give us a good yearbook, and though working under the assumption that we might not have a yearbook because of the war, Jack kept on smilin' and lived up to his reputation by getting the book to the printer ahead of schedule and doing a mighty fine job of it.

That girl next to Jack is Bertha Mueller, the Literary Editor. Bertha did a fine job collecting nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, and so forth. Her co-worker was Bob Mertz . . . he's sitting back in the corner with Ed Resler, Dick VanderVoort, Jim Gammon, Craig Smith, Bob Schaeffer, Chuck Bruckman, Ralph Uhlenberg, and Don Landgraff. They're probably trying to find a way to ge some booster money (legally, of course). Here come some more "money-anglers" - Ruth Thomp son, Stuart Savage, and Walter Betzold.

Look over in the other corner. See those girls? They're on the "lit" staff. There's Jean Stewart, Jean Vedder, Gloria Ressler, Martha Johnson, Jane Hertler, Aileen Jacobs, Mimi Spoehr, Jean Ehlers, Jean Fitzgerald, Dolores Banks, Dot Roessing, and Betty Fleckenstein.

Those fellows that are just coming in are Jack Baldinger, Dave Evans, and Harry Davis What??? Do they always cause that much commotion? Oh, sure. They'll probably wind the meet ing up with a "bang" by showing us a new drum beat that Jack has worked out.
'Oh, here come Mr. Herman and Mr. Thomas, our advisors. They solve all our problemsfor instance, how to make money, spend money, save money. In fact, as long as there's money, they know what to do with it. Seriously though, they plan every "move" of the annual, and with out them most of us would be lost. They're conferring with Jim Cummings, head of the art depart-ment-probably thinking up some new designs for the book.

Jack seems to be calling for attention. All of the staff seems to be here. No, here come some more, and what would we do without them? They're the typists-Jean Moser, Jackie Savage Dorothy Berry, Ruth Eiszler, and Reba Abernathey. Ah, and last but not least there's Bob Friedrich, the business manager, who, if he had his way, would turn everything into dollars and cents. With him is the "camera fiend," Art Reed, and his helper, Walt Campbell.

Well, now that every one is here and settled, the meeting can begin. Oh my! We've been talking too loudly, and they've discovered us. If that's the way they're going to be about it, we'll leave.

This year the war has come very close to us on the home front and has made us appreciate more than ever the advantages of the democratic way of life. Through the school we of the younger generation get our fur student government.

Profiting by the experience of the first year of W.V.H.S. Student Association, this second year has been very successful. The pioneering was over and our representatives had smooth sailing for the school year 1942-43.

Election week in September is always tense and exciting. The only campaigning permitted this year was a 3-minute speech given in assembly. Of the 24 nominees, 6 were chosen to hold offices by the students' votes.

The fateful day arrived, and when the ballots were counted they showed that the people's

This star-studded cabinet plus a representative from each room in the school worked harmoniously throughout the term.

Within a month after election and installation the students saw that they had made a wise selection of very capable officers, for council came up with the exciting and profitable idea of selling magazines on a commission basis. Students selling the most magazines received prizes for their effort. The total money received by council amounted to $$ 900$; profit came to $$ 450$, and all this was effort. The total money received by council amounted to $$ 900$; profit came to $$ 450$, and all this was

SPEECH CLUB

All hail the Speech Club of West View High School! This year, as in years before, the Speech Club is something the people of West View are proud to have in their schools. Today's debators will be tomorrow's leaders and statesmen. West View as a community realizes that fact, and they are "backing up" the Speech Club all the way.

West View High School has the largest National Forensic League Chapter in Pennsylvania, and William Perlik, the club's former President, won more National Forensic League points than any other student in the United States. Jack Moran, the club's President, has the most points in the West View Chapter now. Edwin Resler is the club's treasurer, and Bob Mertz is equally efficient as secretary. The sponsors are Miss Markle, Mr. Metz, and Mr. Mugnani. Mugnani.
The club's membership is very large this year, including about sixty members. They meet every other Thursday, and the meetings usually include movies or dramatic recordings. Refreshments are served after the business meeting, and for those who wish to dance, a dancing period is also

The club presented one three-act play this year which proved to be a success. "Our Girls" was the play, written by Conrad Sieler, and the community of West View turned out to see the production, given in the fern-bedecked West View High School Auditorium. The plot concerned a "ynic, "Aunt Jessie", who visited her three "nieces": Vivian, Jesse, and Francis, who really weren't "nieces" but nephews. As the plot thickens, "Our Girls" in their wigs, dresses, and ribbons promenade a success. a success.

Several Round-Table Discussions were held for both the Parent-Teachers' Association and other clubs in the community, one of which was a very interesting discussion on the post-war world.

Although the outside activities, such as tournaments and contests, were somewhat limited this year, the Speech Club made up by giving these plays and holding dances after basketball games and wrestling matches. The dances proved to be very successful and enjoyable.

So closes the year, and the Speech Club activities are, and will be, remembered by all members.

Single file!!! Don't hurry!!! Those stairs are one way !!! These were familiar phrases we heard while passing through the halls between classes. The Hall Patrol of West View High School
The members of the Hall Patrol were chosen by Mr. Guild, Faculty Sponsor, and Dick Pinkerton, the Secretary of Traffic in our student government. At the beginning of the year the squad contained approximately forty members, but it has since been thinned down to twenty-five. The members of the squad were chosen on the basis of their grades, regular attendance at meetings, alertness, and ability for punctually maintaining their post.

The Hall Patrolmen were posted on all stair landings and throughout the halls, standing so as to divide the halls and landings into two lanes-one for each direction of traffic.

The majority of the students take the Hall Patrol for granted; they do not realize the importance of this society nor the services rendered by it to the school. Traffic on the auditorium stairs lows smooth as water; the downstairs locker room and the upstairs halls are always open; one travels with comparative ease from one class to another-thanks to the Hall Patrol. Think of attempting to scale the stairs against a mad on rush of knowledge-thirsty vultures; of trying to break a strangle mold or half Nelson in escaping from the mob to your classroom or locker; of finding yourself in 211 on what might occur if we were ever caught without a Hall Patrol.
The student body is grateful to Mr. Guild, who coached the squad quite well, and to Dick not Pinkerton, who was directly responsible for the satisfying work of the patrol. Dick made a report to the student council at every meeting and received any criticisms or suggestions, talked them over with Mr. Guild, and carried them out to the best of his and the squad's ability. Dick did a very fine job.

Besides their regular work during school hours, the Hall Patrol was always ready to lend a helping hand elsewhere and could always be counted upon.

When the pupiis have disappeared from the halls and class rooms, and the rumble of feet moving down the halls is heard no more, the members of the Hall Patrol may relax, pat themselves on the back, and enjoy a duly-earned rest and the gratitude of us all.

ORCHESTRA

An organization of our school known simply to us as "the Orchestra" is rapidly gaining prominence in the eyes of our student body. This is due largely to the numerous appearances and splendid performances of

This year stress has been laid on instrumental music as one of our regular school curricula, and consequently a class composed of the members of the Orchestra meets daily for the whole of the first period. Being a new sensation for the student to come to a rehearsal on time, there were many trips to the office and a great deal of grumbling over tardy excuses. It was strange how a new illness crept among the musicians requiring only five or ten minutes tardiness for a complete recovery. But itself in evidence.

Because of certain changes which had to be made this year, the Orchestra was unable to do much of the traveling that had been planned before the emergency. However, the abilities of our musicians have been realized not only by the members of our community but also throughout the district.

There have been other changes made necessary by this war that have affected this group. Several of the first chair players were unable to participate in the rehearsals because of conflicting classes vital to the war program. But in spite of this they went on to perform with the Orchestra. This is really tough, so more praise for them.

Due for a great amount of praise is Mr. Tole, who in two short and troubled years has developed an orchestra befitting the standards of West View High School. He has taught our student body the value of all music - classical, modern, and popular. He has created a versatile organization that can portray the music of the old masters as well as it can "swing out" the tunes of the day. Possibly his greatest achievement is his splendid use of music to bind together the school and the community. This has been evident in the number of community activities in which the students of West View Schools have taken part.

If this past year's activities have any significance, we may feel sure that in years to come our Orchestra will share top honors in the musical field with none but our Band and our Chorus.

The Twirler's Club, which meets every Saturday morning under the leadership of Mr. Tole is for the purpose of training girls to lead our band.

It's half-time at a hard-fought scholastic football game. The crowd leans back for a moment to catch their breath. Suddenly, from the far end of the field appears a brilliantly hued assemblage of marching figures. As they come down the field toward us, playing a stirring march, something else catches our eye. Leading the procession of marching figures are a bevy of girls-prancing smartly in step to the music.

First of all comes our two drum majorettes, the Schillinger twins, alike as two peas in a pod, with their long brown hair and flashing eyes. They are one of our two sets of twins in the band. Next in line are the "Swiss flag twirlers", a foursome which started last year. Gloria Albertson, Betty Wolfinger, and Jean Stewart are the Seniors who will vacate their places this year, while Virginia Scholze has another year to keep her flag waving.

Next in line are the eight girls that everybody talks about. These girls are known far and wide for their unique way of marching. Each girl has a different letter on her sweater and when marching in a straight line they spell WEST VIEW. In the middle marches Jean Heaton, the bell lyre player who makes a fine space. ## BAND

The student band has long been one of the largest, best, and most widely enjoyed organization of the high school. At all the outdoor athletic contests and games it furnishes the spirited music and cheers that go to make up an enjoyable afternoon for both contestants and spectators.

In their brilliant uniforms of rose and gold, the school colors, the members present a very stirring and impressive sight as they parade through the streets on their way to football games at the new stadium near the

The musical and social training that the band gives to its members has been very evident to the people of the community, since several of its best soloists, including Dick VanderVoort, Bill Gruver Jack Baldinger, and Bob Gibson, have won high honors in individual contests, and were selected fo All-State Band in January of this year

The organization was founded and trained for four years by Mr. R. L. Camp, who is now serving with the armed services of the United States. Upon Mr. Camp's induction into the Army two years ago, the position of conductor and band-master was taken over by Mr. William S. Tole, who is still with us. The band has increased in size and improved in quality with every succeeding year
". During the winter season, when the outdoor athletics have slowed down for a while, the band is "instrumental" in furnishing many pleasant evening programs for the community

The band also competes in all music contests for the western part of the state. These include the Southwest Pennsylvania Band Contest, and the State Contests, but these have been cancelled for the duration

The annual tri-band concert was held in conjunction with Millvale and Springdale. They traveled here on February 24th, and our bands went to their schools at later dates. An interesting program of classical and novelty pieces was presented.

Since the band is heartily supported by all the students and faculty of the school, and since there are many young students eager to enter it and fill the vacant chairs of the class of '43, it seems probable that the band will continue on the path of success.

It has been one of the most widely publicized activities of the high school, and will continue to furnish as much pleasure and experience for future musicians as it has for those of the class of '43.

Again this year, as every other year, the senior chorus donned their maroon and white robes, loosened up their vocal chords, and ventured forth from the halls of West View High School to see restricted and they were unable to travel to various districts. All district and state contests hàve been cancelled for the duration. Their activity was confined mostly to local participation

Their splendid work in community services was lauded again and again. The Christmas Cantata, "The Childe Jesus", was one of the first of this year's accomplishments. It is presented free of charge to all, and excellently tells the wondrous story of Jesus's birth.

This year an operetta, "Words and Music", was given in the month of April. It was a combined comedy and love story which was a tremendous success. The annual spring concert was held, together with the other musical organizations in the school.

The chorus was depleted by the loss of many seniors, and many predicted an uneventful year. However, the ranks were augmented, and very ably, by the addition of many new voice students new vocal groups.

Upon one point everybody is agreed: Without the excellent leadership of Miss Conner, this organization would not have attained the great heights that it has. Chorus members must take at least one voice class a day, and during these class periods new songs are learned and "tough spots" are "ironed out". Then, when an evening rehearsal is called, a lot of time is saved. Martha Johnson was the pianist for this year.

Next year's chorus looks promising. Through the daily voice classes, Miss Conner can train the younger students to the achievement which is necessary to gain the cherished membership to the chorus.

This year our junior chorus, made up of seventh, eighth, and ninth graders attracted much attention from everyone with its excellent performances upon several occasions. Directing this junior chorus is Miss Bennett, who deserves a lot of credit for her efforts

This year's chorus proved one point very successfully: You don't have to travel to be active and gain honors.

WEST WIND

Just as the community is provided with news through the many Pittsburgh papers and community journals, our high school is provided with news through our paper, "The West Wind". These papers are taken home and read by mom, dad, and the whole family because they, too, are just as interested in finding out about the new schedules or how the sports team made out in their game with their biggest rival of the year.

The paper was edited through the laborous efforts of a fine fellow, Walter Betzold. Walter spent many hours of work with the paper, to make it the big success which it was. A capable staff of students from all grades assisted as reporters, typists, feature writers, artists, and proof readers.

Miss Stoner and Miss Plank were our "censors" who worked industriously assisting to present accurate news, attractive layouts, and interesting features.

The first copy came out on December 18th and was received enthusiastically by everyone. It was chucked full of news, and the art work attracted the attention of many students without S . A. A. books. As it was a Christmas copy, it enriched the holiday spirit and everyone left school ready to welcome Christmas.

Although the special features were important and interesting, the gossip column, "Busy Bee" was never overlooked by anyone; not even the most intellectual students

Seenes of scattered papers, finished and unfinished, art designs, and clicking typewriter keys busily flying were ordinary scenes when the paper was due to come out. Reporting columnists could be seen runing ino Room 105 with their faces beaming because their report was on time, or those who came with theirs just in time for printing.

Due to the scarcity of paper, the "West Wind" did not make as many editions as it would have liked to, but the students seemed to understand this condition, which made it easier for the staff. Much credit is also due to our Associate Editor, Dorothy Roessing. She assisted Walter in presenting the paper to the students in an attractive form with outstanding new articles.

The Feature Editor was our peppy, hard-working Jackie Savage, who saw to it that the feature articles and all reports were in on time and typed ready to go to press.

The staff co-operated beautifully and deserves much credit for its work throughout the year.

VARSITY CLUB

Varsity Club started this school year with about fifteen or sixteen veterans from sports of previous years.

A fter choosing our club officers, who are:-President, Larry Kelly; Vice-President, Wilber Wagner; and Secretary-Treasurer, Bill Hurley, we began planning for the coming year.

R first event was the initiation, held on November 30, when thirteen new sportsters were cordially welcomed into the cherished Varsity Club.
$\mathrm{S}^{\text {oon after the effects of their parading through the school halls for a week (with the same white }}$ shirt, suit coat, flower and parted hair) wore off, we held a raffle.
It $^{t}$ was a big juicy turkey, and was won by Ruth Eiszler, on December 23rd, just in time for the Christmas Menu.
Then came the New Year and we started out well by taking our best girls for a hike to Benko's Boulevard Cookery for a delicious spaghetti dinner, and a grand evening of dancing and fun. Well, enough about our past activities and now a few words about the sponsors of our club.

You all know our distinguished faculty sponsors, Mr. Hartman, Mr. Reed, Mr. Holmok, Mr. Wrenshall, Mr. Tiffany and Mr. Stewart. In addition to these gentlemen, we have three notable citizens of our fair borough as honorary sponsors. They are Mr. Morehouse, Mr. Slack and Mr. Kelly. So there you have our Varsity Club for 1942-1943.

"ARBU" ART CLUB

The "Arbu" Art Club is a new club in our school, but they have made themselves very well known. Everywhere you look in the school you see some work that has been done by this useful organization. The "Arbu" Art Club is under the capable guidance of Miss Burrall who, with the officers, has succeeded in making this club successful. The officers for this year are: President, Gloria Kiedaisch; Vice-President, Jean Louden; Secretary-Treasurer, Ginny Heintz; and Representative, Marion Robertson. These officers formed the nucleus of the organization and, along with the members, have succeeded in accomplishing much.

Arbu" is taken from the two words art and beauty and its aim is to stimulate an interest in creative things among the student body, and to arouse a consciousness of the beauty and satisfaction of orderly things. The underlying purpose is to create a unity of purpose among the art students and to try to make the art department grow in size as well as in service. This latter purpose has been successfully achieved.

Some of the past achievements of the "Arbu Art" Club are as follows: the making of Clean-up Posters to hang in different sections of the school, making of programs for the Sailor's Christmas Banquet sponsored by the Red Cross in Pittsburgh, and the making of posters to hang in stores of the community. These accomplishments have been noticed and appreciated by the whole student body. Some of the other contributions have been the map for the service men of West View that hangs in the library and the eagle for the service men's honor roll. One of their greatest achievements particularly every Senior, will extend a vote of thanks to the art department for the latter contribution because it will long be remembered. They helped make the Senior play a success and a thing of beauty.

Another of the plans for the art club was to paint scenery for the Operetta, "Words and Music", sponsored by Miss Alice Conner. The "Arbu" Art Club also plans to initiate the ninth grade students especially interested in art and outstanding in art. Then they will hold a theater party for the ninth graders after they have been initiated. The club will also attempt to finish both of the large murals in the school.

LOTS OF SUCCESS in the future to the "Arbu" Art Club!

This unique organization, though a little shy of membership this year, has continued as enthusiastically as ever. Every Monday afternoon, Mr. Mugnani's room harbors a group of deeply engrossed chess players contemplating their next move. Due to the number of activities held the same day as chess club, many people were lost in favor of more active sports. This game, you see, requires a great deal of thought and intelligence. It is really a "miniature war" since the "men" bear titles such as "king", "bishop", "knight", and "pawn". The "king" is the most important, but the "queen" is the most maneuverable, being able to move up, down, or diagonally. The "bishops" may move any number of spaces on the diagonals; the "castle", any number of spaces at right angles; and the "pawn" only straight ahead. When the "king" is captured, the game ends.

Though only ten active members remain, they have set up Varsity and Jr. Varsity teams which compete with each other, looking forward to the time when they can match wits with another school as they did last year. At the present time there are no other schools in this vicinity that have continued their chess clubs, which puts our boys at a distinct disadvantage. They are confined to the four walls of Room 208 for their matches.

On the Varsity team, Homer McCarthy is the No. 1 player, while the Jr. Varsity stars Don Funston. Dick Holland and Harry Montgomery hold second place on their respective teams. Franklin Blackstone, David Archer, William Hasek, Regis Scholl, Robert Fitzgerald, and Jack Cummings, are the other faithfuls.

The club president, Paul Lang, is working and has quit school, thus leaving the boys to select his successor, which as yet has not been done.

The chess clubbers hoped for something big this year, but lack of competition held them back Those in the group have worked hard, as anyone who has watched the team in session will say. Perhaps next year will see a substantial amount of matches and, if it does, our boys can't help but come out on top.

West View High salutes its chess team . . . .

GIRL RESERVES

Let us drop in on this group of jolly girls and see what they are up to
The president this year is Dorothy Blumenschein and the advisor is Miss Kiedaisch. The work of entertaining and also of planning the meeting was divided into the following committees ports, dramatics, social service, devotion, music, and social.

During the winter months the girls donned their gym clothes and formed a basketball team They practiced every time it was possible to get the floor and, as a result of this, came out on top They played several other girls' teams and were very successful.

Initiation of new members last fall was quite entertaining. The new girls were compelled to dress up as small children. They had to walk down to Berkley's and back up to school. After arriving back at the school they received refreshments. Then the memorable Candlelight Service was held; and as each girl lighted her candle, she became an official member of the Girl Reserves. This was the first year the Candlelight Service was carried on during a blackout. Several swimming trips were made to the Y. W. C. A., where some of the girls learned how to swim. Bowling teams were formed and after the regular meetings the girls would go bowling. During February a book campaign wa book to the girl at the door. This was one of the most successful campaigns that was carried

The Girl Reserves have sponsored several tea dances, all of which were quite successful. One of the things the Girl Reserves looked forward to was the Spring Dance. This was held outside the school and everyone had a lovely time. Bright and early on the morning of May first, the girls wer found preparing a breakfast for all the Senior girls. This is a tradition carried on every year. They have to arise at 5:00 A. M. but none of these girls minded doing this.

This was a very successful year because all the girls co-operated and proved very friendly. We leave this year knowing next year will be even more successful for the Girl Reserves.

LIBRARY CLUB

 Second Row-P. MacDonald, P. Dentici, J. Wellman, E. Wright, J. Holtzman, B. Fleckenstein, R. Rebel, J. Spatz, I. Sutton, A. Coda.

> "When is this book due?" . . . "How much do I owe?" . . "Your book is overdue!" What material do you have for my term paper?", .. "I'd like Time Magazine for March 30, 1939." . . . "Can you reserve 'Gone With the Wind' for me."

After answering hundreds of questions like those, the bell cheerily rings and the class files out and another questioning group enters. These queries seem like a ball rolling down a hill gradually getting faster and faster until by the time it has reached the bottom the speed is terrific. This is a day in our library

We in West View have an excellently equipped library that furnishes almost all one can desire whether it be for a term paper or for pleasure reading. The sponsors, Miss Laing and Miss Delp, never tire of answering questions and finding material even if it is five minutes before the bell or the close of the day. They are aided by a group of forty girls who are chosen, after a period of probation place to work.

The task of the library assistant is not always work and no play because they enjoy several annual activities-as their annual Christmas party when they celebrate Christmas by trimming a tree and decorating the library. All look forward to this event but not with less enthusiasm do they tree and decorating, the library. All look forward to this event but not with less enthusiasm do they officers, Mary Jean Wellman, Marjorie Dellebnach, and Jean Craiger, along with the members, aid the sponsors in planning a banquet we all remember. This is the farewell to the Senior girls and this year we lose some Seniors who have been in the club since its origin.

The aim of the club is to complete the card catalog which is now well under way. The daily task is always to keep the book circulation moving smoothly. Our library now has six thousan volumes and subscribes to thirty different magazines and has a daily circulation of 150 books. This year the library had a new task-that of the Social Studies Library. The librarians hope that student will make use of this new opportunity.

This club in our school is educational as well as pleasurable because you become acquainted with the authors of books and develop an interest in beneficial informative reading.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Some years ago a group of sports-loving girls banded together and formed a basketball team. They played each other's teams for practice until they were ready to go out of school to find competition. They were quite successful, winning games from Perry and Bellevue.

Culminating from this beginning, we have the organization known as the Girls Athletic Assopopular sport is basketball, although volley-ball, badminton, and deck tennis various teams. Mo The seventh, eighth, and ninth graders play during the first period on certain days of the week Each time a girl plays she gets one point. These points accumulate from seventh grade throug ninth grade, and start over again in tenth grade through twelfth. When a sportster has made fifty points she is given a gymnastic letter.

The senior high teams played on Tuesdays and Fridays during the eighth period. Girls on the winning team are given one-half point extra.

The various teams were named after birds, and the girls were evenly distributed as to age and height so as to make the teams comparatively even,

The letters received are rose and gold, and look well when they are worn on sweaters and jackets. Their owners have a right to strut along, proudly displaying the reward for their efforts.

This organization gives the sports-loving girls an opportunity to serve their school as well as merely have their own fun. In future years it is hoped that more competition can be had from surounding schools, making the games more interesting. Perhaps, if enough attention was gained, a for its superior work.

Approximately fifty girls turn out to "push a ball around"
. They were hindered by the fact that the Basketball Team utilized the floor almost every night during their season, and the same was rue of the Wrestling Team. Nevertheless, the girls kept their chins up, and made up for it after the season was over

Miss Aiken and the girls feel that their sports not only provide exercise and fun, but also advance one's behavior towards mankind, and teach the art of getting along in the world.

STAGE CREW

Second Row-J. Hirth, B. Stierheim, J. Gordon.

This year has been another busy one for the stage crew. In spite of the Boston fire of 1942 and the curtailment of inflammable decorations, the plays, assemblies, and entertainments have been all that was hoped for

The first big activity that took extensive planning and extra work was the Senior Class Play Being a play on the supernatural, the lighting had to be just right to give that ethereal effect. This was well accomplished and the effect produced was awe inspiring. The next busy time was before Christmas. This time the stage crew prepared for the Christmas Cantata, the Christmas assembly, and the Girl Reserve dance. The Christmas vacation came just in time to allow the stage crew to rest up for the next year. Then in ' 43 the Speech Club gave their annual play. This took a considerable amount of time but was worth it. Then came the Junior Class Play. This took as much careful planning as that of the Senior Class Play and just as much work.

Toward the end of the school year some time was spent preparing for the Queen of the May. This closed the stage for the vacation except for a few assemblies. The next activity was work on the Graduation

The stage crew is under the sponsorship of Miss Daubenspeck and it is to this grand person that we owe most of our success. Miss Daubenspeck shall long be remembered by the graduating senior members of the stage crew.

The membership this year in the stage crew was small compared with other years. The usual staff was John Hirth on the curtain; James Gordon, manager of the crew; Brady Stierheim, electrician lights, and projectionist; Harry Benson on the spotlight in the balcony, and the stage helpers: Bill Kennison, Ray Collins, and Sam Hollenberger

The writing on the dimmers, in the above picture, are instructions and cues from the Senior Class Play.

ATHLETICS

To a likable fullow
who is alvayy hapery.

One lovely day in late August it all started. Thirty fine boys hit the trail for the foothills of West Virginia to be moulded and worked into a smooth-functioning, hard-driving team ready to meet and better any team they chanced to cross. The team was built around many carry-overs from "41": crack hurler Kelly at left-half; fast-driving "oo LaSlavic at fullback; big, tough tackling Ed McAllonis at center; and ace line smasher "Pete"' Smith at tackle. Around this nucleus was built the team that was to represent West View in the gridiron world. Into the empty end slots were fitted Wilbur Wagner, hard-fighting, rangy gridiron world. Into the empty end slots were fitted Wilbur Wagner, hard-fighting, rangy Junior, and Don Straub, Allegheny fostered Senior. Filling the remaining frontier positions were three crashing Seniors: Dave Evans, Bob Kremmel, and Tom Madden-guard, tackle, and guard respectively. In the remaining backfield positions appeared such fleetfooted, quickwitted Seniors as Jim Raymond at quarter-back, and equally efficient Dean Woodcock or Earl Taschner at right half. Behind this team were many hard-fighting and equally good gridsters-boys like Al Craig, promising Junior guard, Cliff Elms, a dependable center, Ron B Oridsters-boys like Al Craig, promising Junior guard, Cliff Elms, a dependable center, Ron much service as the forementioned team, not to mention the fighting second team that kept the Varsity string stepping for first honors.

The first game on September 11 resulted in a 20-0 defeat at the hands of Millvale's crimson tide. Approaching the Oakmont game on the 19th, the boys, now a smooth working machine, had the true will to trounce the enemy and that they did, 12-0.

The next week the boys, now started, chalked up a $9-7$ victory over a powerful Sewickley team with Taschner t.
scored a safety for the final 2 .

The following week the boys journeyed to Etna for an evening tilt which was (and we quote Coach Wrenshall) "the greatest, most exciting, and evenly matched game I have ever seen" after which we were proudly seen marching home with a 6-6 tie under our belts, Don Madden making the touchdown.

At this point, we are sorry to say, the team seemed to go into a slump, taking a 19-6 trouncing from a powerful Brentwood squad and the next week a 20-6 defeat from Scott High.

The next week a rejuvenated Indian squad journeyed to Shaler to play a whale of a game until the last few minutes when the dog-tired sixty minute team allowed Shaler to grore 14 points.

October 30 brought the long-awaited Oliver contest with our "Braves" holding the City League champions to 26-6.

Saturday, November 7 closed the season with a defeat from Baldwin.
It has been said that with the team we had we could have had a much more successful season, but we are proud to look back upon one of the best seasons at West View, and we season, but we are proud will cherish this memory.

There was a time when West View ruled the courts at home and abroad. She was y respected throughout the entire circuit.
This year "Rube" has a fine bunch of fellows assembled. They come as close as any recent outfit has in their laborious task of attempting to lift West View out of the depths. This year's team is entirely new, with the exception of "Big Mike", our forward. West View boy. These boys have the rationed ability of being able to pass the ball better than average speed and with due accuracy. Don is also a fine shot, especially with his left hand.

Larry Kelly, the pivot man, has a goodly amount of finesse and a more than average amount of aggressiveness. It was due greatly to the smart playing ability of "our Lawrence" that West View kept fighting.

In the front line, better known as forwards, we have quite a variety, inasmuch as we, have both the tallest and the shortest men on the team patrolling this zone. "Big Ed"

We must not forget to mention the very valuable services of our so-called second team. The standouts in this department are "Red" McCausland and Bobby Carlile. They are always ready to step in and fill the gap left by one of their team mates in a re-

A word about the Junior Varsity crew from which the stars of tomorrow must come follows. These boys fared better than the Varsity did. They approximated a .500 average for their season's play. Important cogs in their success were Thomas, classy-looking underclassman, and Bob Gibson, clever Senior ball handler.

The Indians are a well-trained and conditioned outfit, due to the splendid guidance or squad, no matter what the score. We'll support them to the end.

Grunt, Groan, Pin Him! Put the other shoulder down! Such are the sounds which can be heard coming from the Highland School Gym any time during wrestling season. It is West View's pride and joy in sports, preparing to meet the enemy on a battlefield of mats. West View's Wrestling Team, coached by Mr. Reed and this year ably managed by Paul Kaylor, has long proved itself a match for any rival team.

West View started off its season by trampling Carnegie with a score of 14 to 2. Then West View traveled to Millvale where they triumphed with a score of 12 to 11 . Next came Waynesburg alas, our Indians must not have had their war paint on straight, for they bowed to their opponents 3 to 16 . But in the next match the team turned defeat into a real victory when they made Canonsburg dance to the tune of 9 to 7 . It might interest you to know that this is the first time that we have defeated Canonsburg and that Canonsburg had suffered but 5 defeats in 120 matches. The boys certainly deserve a pat on the back for defeating such a formidable opponent. Next came a return match with Carnegie when the boys again took an easy victory, the score being 10 to 4 . This takes us approxwhen the boys again took an easy victory, the sco

These are boys of the team who work and sweat to put W.V.H.S. on top in the field of sports. In the past, West View has always been on top and will continue to be so as long as our Wrestling Team keeps up its splendid work.

It is seldom that a high school has the opportunity to boast a good competitive golf team. Taking into mind the size of our school, the golf team made an excellent showing in the past few years.

The coming years are filled with foreboding handicaps for nearly all golfers, but it is our hope that West View may continue to play at the nearby Highland Country Club. Even though it may not be possible to make all the trips planned, a number of matches will surely be held.

Hard hit this year by the loss of men as well as the war, the team has been left to rely largely on newcomers. The most prominent of these is Bob Schaeffer, an Ingomar boy who in the past season has distinguished himself rather well among golfing circles. The who in the past season has distinguished himself rather well among golfing circles. The position on that team by shooting a steady and dependable game.

The fact that we are able to boast of a really fine golf team is largely due to the splendid efforts of our faculty sponsor, Mr. Tiffany. He coached the boys until the very coldest weather. The newcomers battled hard for their position on the team and waited hopefully for the first sign of warm weather. At the earliest sign of spring, stiff arms and backs were limbered up and the crew took to the fairways and bunkers.

There are five men on the golfing team-the best player holding number one position, next best number two, and so on up to five. Thus, when a match is held, the number one players from the different schools meet each other, and so on down the line.

A minor attempt has been made by Miss Aiken to form a girl's golf team. Several promising drivers have been uncovered, but it will take several more years of training before a team can be formed. Miss Aiken helps coach the boys' team, however, and is an excellent golfer herself.

The team last year made an excellent showing in all of its matches. Even greater hopes are held for coming years. The war has stopped production of golf balls, but in spite of many such handicaps the boys faced the future with a smile.

We may well hope, even in view of this season's inconveniences and those of coming seasons, that our golf team will hold its well earned position high in the ranks of our district competitors.

MEMORIES

Jean Stewart

A blare of trumpets, the dimming of lights, and all eyes feasted upon the beauty of Her Majesty, the Queen. Lovely Jean Stewart received the crown from retiring Queen Faith Geipel, and now rules her subjects with all her grace. Attending her are Louise Hamilton and Gloria Albertson, and the three of them present a breath-taking spectacle.

Her coronation occurred on April 30, at which time her devoted subjects danced for her delight. Jean then proclaimed a ball to which all her loyal subjects were invited. May she enjoy a happy reign during the ensuing year.

1942 PROM

"But it's never been done before" "It'll be a flop". . . These and other such moans were heard frequently around the halls when it was announced that the annual prom must be held in the High School gym. But thing that just couldn't be dealt with sothe High School gym it was.
Oh yes, the Juniors even protested and bemoaned the fate that had befallen them, but moaning never got anyone anywhere so they dug in and started to work. Believe me, it was work too; but the result was well worth any effort put forth.
They complained and they fussed but when they saw it they were too amazed to say anything but-"Gee"- That old gym, which like anything but a gym, had been transformed into a tropical isle.
As one looked toward the back wall, one saw the blue sea rolling on to a sandy beach where tropical plants and tall palm trees waved in the breeze, instead of an old yellow wall. In one corner was a sparkling brook where goldfish swam. And overhead-well believe it or not, overhead was a beautiful blue sky full of twinkling stars. Toward the front of the gym gangplanks led up from the auditorium to give the illusion of a ship. Yep, it was hard to believe that it had been only a gym.
But they didn't stop, with the gym-the library was converted into a very "cozy" place where soft drinks and ice cream were served by underclass girls in grass skirts and flowered blouses. Everybody got in the sight-with the girls multicolored dresses topped off by the colorful leis which were sold at the door.

News of the success got around, as all such good news does, and photographers from the daily papers stopped in to get a few snaps. These pictures appeared in the paper the next day and it wasn't long until our prom was thes miles around.
And so the Prom, which had started out predicted as a sure flop, ended as the most predicted as a sure flop, ended as the mose had. So never let it be said of anything - "It can't be done" because we proved that "It is always worth trying.
